

Forespar® FLASHBACK

The first Forespar® product manufactured was the Telescoping Whisker Pole designed for sailboats. Today, 95% of Forespar's products are manufactured in our Rancho Santa Margarita, CA plant.

Check out these "Flashback" shots of the Forespar® manufacturing facility from April 2010. Forespar's CEO, Scott Foresman, believes that local manufacturing means local jobs with skilled workers which is good for the local economy. Local manufacturing allows us greater responsiveness to deliver products without long lead times or waiting for overseas deliveries.

Mack Sails & Forespar® - A Solid Combo

In 1967, a Ft. Lauderdale, FL fledgling sailmaking firm partnered with lifelong sailor Brad Mack and Bradford Mack & Co was launched. For the next 20 years, the company continued to expand and in 1988, moved to Stuart, FL and was renamed Mack Sails. Over the years the company has expanded to include a full service rigging shop and a complete marine electronics service.

Strong relationships have played a significant role in Mack Sails' growth. In the late 1960's, a key affiliation with Forespar® began when Brad reached out across the U.S. for like-minded entrepreneurs who held similar strong business and family values. For the next 40 plus years, the Mack Sails and Forespar® relationship thrived and remains an industry symbol of 'partnering for progress' for both entities.

Together they blend excellent products and service that satisfies the most demanding and rigorous standards that sailors require. Forespar® makes the boom furlers, and we make the sails and install them (riggers and sailmakers).
